Welcome to MetroWest!

For centuries, MetroWest has been a diverse and thriving region offering tremendous opportunities for personal exploration and professional growth. That innovative spirit has kept our region at the forefront of burgeoning new industries—from craft beverages to biotech—even as we preserve our historic New England traditions and landscape. Set between the two largest cities in New England, our region offers the best of both worlds: the vibrant excitement of a city with thriving cultural amenities and corporate leaders, and rural natural beauty that is perfect for recreation and relaxation.

Our unique mix of urban, suburban, and rural communities makes it easy for visitors to experience luxury shopping and country boutiques, haute cuisine and farm-to-table, conference centers and restful inns. With major arteries crisscrossing the region, you are never far from intriguing opportunities in MetroWest!
Driving: from there to here

In less than one hour!

- Bellingham > downtown Providence, RI: 15 miles
- Eastern Natick > western Northborough: 18 miles
- Natick > Boston’s Logan Airport: 20 miles
- Northborough > downtown Marlborough: 12 miles
- Downtown Franklin > Downtown Marlborough: 23 miles
- Downtown Franklin > Cape Cod’s Bourne Bridge: 50 miles

Easy access:

- Hudson > New Hampshire border: 30 miles
- I-90 / I-495 interchange > downtown Providence: 35 miles
- Wayland > Kittery, ME: 70 miles

All roads lead to MetroWest.
What’s in store?

With such a wealth of retail offerings, it’s easy to “spend” the day here.

Where else could you browse a quintessential country store and, minutes later, shop at New England’s largest enclosed retail complex, including the plentiful retail districts of Route 9 and all along Route 9. Further south, GATRA’s bus service stops at all major MetroWest hotels, many town centers, and, minutes later, shop at New England’s largest enclosed retail complex.

MetroWest is referred to as a shopper’s world, and indeed, one of the nation’s first outdoor malls, with the apt title Shoppers’ World, anchors the northern tip of the region, and Wrentham Village Premium Outlets anchor the southern tip. In between, you’ll find specialty stores to suit every need and whim.

What’s in store?

MetroWest offers such robust retail options—from international luxury brands to local omakers—that you’ll want to shop 10 years. Top: Natick Mall; bottom: 1854 Cycling Company’s “Abolitionist” model.

Here in MetroWest, we do work hard, but we don’t always mean business!

We balance our high tech with low stress, and that means that when we’re not working, we’re playing around: walking, jogging, biking, kayaking, and generally relaxing. In fact, visitors to nearby cities find MetroWest the quickest, easiest destination for unwinding. Miles of trails and gardens, six state parks, three major rivers, and four wildlife sanctuaries satisfy outdoor enthusiasts.

We’re good sports, too, with some of the country’s finest indoor facilities for hockey, lacrosse, badminton, and tennis tournaments year-round. Outdoor stadiums, including Bowditch Complex (the largest stadium between Boston and Worcester), host sports and entertainment events. You might even see a few of your favorite celebrities in the stands. Walking trails Around the world, people know the MetroWest town of Hopkinton as the starting line of the Boston Marathon, whose course crosses through five nearby towns. In fact, all our towns are criss-crossed with hiking, walking, and running trails that connect the public in the course, that include trails for walking and running, cross-country skiing, and horseback riding. Trails throughout the Concord, Assabet, and Sudbury River Basins.

- And much more!
What is 300 years old and gets more robust each day? MetroWest’s hotel industry.

With the opening of our first Inn in 1716, our region’s hotels have always offered travelers the right place at the right time. There’s plenty of choice for the weary! Whether embarking on the 18th-century Boston Post Road or whizzing through the modern intersection of I-90 and I-495, visitors have always found our accommodations to be right where they need them.

With Route 9 running east-west and I-495 curving south-north, major roads bring hundreds of thousands of business travelers, who rub elbows with the visitors attending sports tournaments, college events, and cultural attractions. Here, they all find a home away from home—from historic inns to upscale hotels with the most urban amenities. Fine dining, en-suite kitchens, and fitness centers make these accommodations anything but sleepy.

We’re also highly functional! More than 200,000 square feet of meeting spaces are suitable for events ranging from intimate gatherings to major trade shows. To learn more about MetroWest’s function space, please see the chart on page 36.

Fun facts about our region

- Because the floor for Pepperidge Farm products was ground at Sudbury’s Wayside Inn Grist Mill through the 1960s, the company’s logo still carries an illustration of the Mill. Once owned by Henry Ford, this 300-year-old lodging destination is the nation’s oldest continuously operating inn.
- The town of Hopedale split off from Milford in the 1841, when founder Adin Ballou and his idealist followers established a planned commune heralded as a social experiment because of its liberal stances on women’s rights and abolition.
- With eight full-size rinks and one studio rink all under one structure, Marlborough’s New England Sports Center is the largest skating facility in the United States.
- Half of the Boston Marathon’s course runs through MetroWest. The race began in Ashland from 1887 to 1923, when it was moved to its present location in the Hopkinton Common.
- The world’s largest collection of World War II artifacts resides in the International Museum of World War II in Natick, with 7,000 items on display, the Museum will soon triple in size to accommodate an additional 500,000 documents.
- Framingham—the nation’s largest town with a population of almost 70,000—is the automobile capital of New England in the early 20th century, beginning with the development of the “Power” car in 1905.
- Given that the nation’s first public library opened in Franklin, it’s not surprising that this town is also home to Horace Mann, regarded as the father of the modern public-school system.
- Half of the Boston Marathon’s course runs through MetroWest. The race began in Ashland from 1887 to 1923, when it was moved to its present location in the Hopkinton Common.
- Downtown Hudson is quickly becoming a destination for fun food and drink. At New City Microcreamery, you can get a Hibiscus Cabernet ice-cream cone and a martini poured in a real speakeasy!
With more than 300 years of innovation and fine-tuning, MetroWest has developed some of the company we keep here in MetroWest. Welcome Adventurers!

This is... Max McNickle

His mission?
To help you save!

The Adventure Savings Club follows the adventures of Max McNickle as he teaches kids smart money skills. When the savings account balance grows, so do the prizes. This club is open to all adventurers ages 3 through 13.

Stop by our new branch at 270 Cochituate Road in Framingham or any of our other 10 locations to open!
